Whole Grain Summit 2017 – Registration and poster abstract submission now open!

Raise your voice on whole grains - join The 6th International Whole Grain Summit! The key international event is the only international conference on whole grains and will use this global reach to establish networks and define action plans that will stimulate increased consumption of whole grains and other healthy cereal ingredients. The Summit will be one of a kind as it will include updates on the latest in science/technology, nutrition and health, business, marketing and regulatory perspectives as well as active discussion sessions in the "World Cafe" format leading to a declaration on whole grains. Participants will not only get state-of-the-art information but also have the unique opportunity to actively contribute to the future of whole grain!

Present your work to key stakeholders from across the globe in the poster presentation sessions - abstract submission is now open! The best posters will be awarded and may be presented in plenary.

Take advantage of the Early bird registration rate! (registration before 31 July 2017)

Use this opportunity and bring your company in the focus of the global grain and food sector! Find the sponsorship opportunities and meet the sponsors! View more details and get involved today - go to www.wholegrainsummit.com
